I used Ideal Home Renovations on a gut renovation for my Manhattan apartment.

This was a particularly difficult renovation as we were adding an additional bathroom as well as gut renovating the existing bathroom and kitchen.

Charles and his architect worked with my Cooperative buildings management and architect to gain the buildings permission for the scope of work. Once the relevant permits were gained, they then did the same thing with the city.

I found Charles easily approachable and available whenever I had questions or needed his advice on a scope change. Charles always informed me if additional work was needed and this was reflected in an updated scope of work that he would give me when we met on regular intervals during the duration of the project.

I would not hesitate to use IHR for any future renovation projects, and can happily recommend Charles as a very professional contractor who was a pleasure to work with.
